

Policy for
OPAL Play Policy
2023/24

Document Control

A. Confidentiality Notice
 This policy document has been approved by the Governing Body of St Modwen’s Catholic Primary School and is intended for internal and/or external publication. Where the document is identified for internal use the policy information may not be shared with external agencies or parents without the prior agreement of the Headteacher or authorizing committee.

B. Document Details	Classification:	Curriculum and Standards Committee
	Policy Source:	OPAL Play
	Organisation:	St Modwen’s Catholic Primary School
	Documents reference:	Policy number: STM96
	Current Version Number:	V1 (9 pages)
	Current Document Approved by: (Committee)	Curriculum and Standards Committee
	Date Approved:	30.11.2023
	Statutory Policy	Yes
	Internal/External Policy (published on website)	External – Publish on website
	Schedule Review:	Next Review date:	Review cycle
	November 2024	1 Year

C. Version Control Document revision and Approval History	Version	Date	Version created by:	Version approved by:	Comments
	V1	30.11.2023	School	Curriculum and Standards Committee	Annual Review –

Excellence For All Through Jesus' Love

1. Commitment

Our school undertakes to refer to this play policy in all decisions that affect children's play. Our school is committed to providing the strategic and operational leadership needed to provide and maintain quality play provision for all our children.

2. Rationale

Our school believes that all children need opportunities to play that allow them to explore, manipulate, experience and affect their environment. We believe play provision should be welcoming and accessible to every child, irrespective of gender, sexual orientation, economic or social circumstances, ethnic or cultural background or origin, or individual abilities.

The OPAL Primary Programme rationale is that "... better, more active and creative playtimes can mean happier and healthier children, and having happier, healthier, more active children usually results in a more positive attitude to learning in school, with more effective classroom lessons, less staff time spent resolving unnecessary behavioural problems, fewer playtime accidents, happier staff and a healthier attitude to life."

This will provide further opportunities for our children at St Modwen's to aim high and achieve their God given potential as socially responsible citizens, loving one another as Jesus loves us through interactive and independent play. With Jesus' love and presence we are inspired to achieve excellence in our lives.

3. Definition and value of play

Play is defined as a process that is intrinsically motivated, directed by the child and freely chosen by the child. Play has its own value and provides its own purpose. It may or may not involve equipment or other people.

We believe play has many benefits, including:

- Play is critical to children's health and wellbeing, and essential for their physical, emotional, social, spiritual and intellectual development.
- Play enables children to explore the physical and social environment, as well as different concepts and ideas.
- Play enhances children's self-esteem and their understanding of others through freely chosen social interactions, within peer groups, with individuals, and within groups of different ages, abilities, interests, genders, ethnicities and cultures.
- Play requires ongoing communication and negotiation skills, enabling children to develop a balance between their right to act freely and their responsibilities to others.
- Play enables children to experience a wide range of emotions and develop their ability to cope with these, including sadness and happiness, rejection and acceptance, frustration and achievement, boredom and fascination, fear and confidence.
- Play encourages self-confidence and the ability to make choices, problem solve and to be creative.
- Play maintains children's openness to learning, develops their capabilities and allows them to push the boundaries of what they can achieve.
- Play is defined as 'engaging in activity for enjoyment and recreation rather than a serious or practical purpose.' Child led activity will rapidly increase creativity, imagination and resilience.
- OPAL can claim 100% engagement unlike sports and PE, increased level of engagement will aid both mental and physical health.
- Child led activity allows children to enter a flow state; this allows children to stay completely immersed in the activity they are involved in. This state can continue after playtime and provide improved concentration during lesson time leading to an 80% decrease in the use of behaviour policy during lesson time.
- Help children to become independent and aim high to reach their God given potential as socially responsible citizens.

4. Aims

In relation to play our school aims to:

- Ensure play settings provide a varied, challenging and stimulating environment.
- Allow children to take risks and use a common-sense approach to the management of these risks and their benefits.
- Provide opportunities for children to develop their relationships with each other.
- Enable children to develop respect for their surroundings and each other.
- Aid children's physical, emotional, social, spiritual and intellectual development.
- Provide a range of environments that will encourage children to explore and play imaginatively.
- Provide a range of environments that will support children's learning across the curriculum and learning about the world around them.
- Promote independence and teamwork within children.
- Build emotional and physical resilience.
- Aim high and achieve their God given potential as socially responsible citizens.
- With Jesus' love and presence, we are inspired to achieve excellence in our lives.

5. Rights

Our school recognises the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, which includes the right to play, recreation and leisure (Article 31) and the right of children to be listened to on matters important to them (Article 12) See Appendix.2. We acknowledge that we have a duty to take these rights seriously and listen to children's views on their play helping our children to grow as socially responsible citizens.

6. Benefit and risk

'Play is great for children's wellbeing and development. When planning and providing play opportunities, the goal is not to eliminate risk, but to weigh up the risks and benefits. No child will learn about risk if they are wrapped in cotton wool.'

Managing Risk in Play Provision: An Implementation Guide (Play Safety Forum, 2012)

The school will use the Health and Safety Executive guidance document Children's Play and Leisure – Promoting a Balanced Approach (September 2012) as the principal value statement informing its approach to managing risk in play. In doing so, the school will adopt a risk-benefit approach as detailed in Managing Risk in Play Provision: An Implementation Guide (Play Safety Forum, 2012).

Risk-taking is an essential feature of play provision and of all environments in which children legitimately spend time at play. Play provision aims to offer children the chance to encounter acceptable risks as part of a stimulating, challenging and managed play environment. As outlined in the play sector publication 'Best Play', play provision should aim to 'manage the balance between the need to offer risk and the need to keep children and young people safe from harm'.

In addition to standard risk-benefit assessments the school will practice dynamic risk management with children, encouraging them to identify and manage risks in an environment where adults are present to support them.

At St Modwen's Catholic Primary School we firmly believe that children being given the opportunity to take part in risky play will significantly improve children's social and emotional development, mental health and wellbeing and provide experiences that will shape them through life. OPAL provides significant benefit inside the classroom along with outdoors, OPAL schools have reported increased creativity, imagination and collaborative skills from their pupils since the implementation of the strategy. As a school we aim for excellence in all we do, and play is no exception to this value.

HSE Managing Risk Statement Doc 4.6. See Appendix.1

7. Supervision

The law requires that children in school have supervision but for primary school playtimes there are no stated ratios. During the school day there should be one or more adults present outdoors. The school recognises OPAL's three models of supervision: Direct, Remote and Ranging. Except for new children in reception, whose skills and orientation in the school environment need to be assessed, the school does not believe direct supervision is possible or beneficial. Supervisors will use ranging and remote supervision models, so that children can quickly find an adult and adults can patrol large sites to gain an awareness of the kinds of play and levels of risk likely to be emerging.

Play time at St Modwen's will see the site split into ranges. Playworkers will be given a range to oversee and ensure the children are playing safely and have meaningful play every day. It is the essential role of the playworkers to ensure they are scouting their range and moving around within their designated area to ensure pupils can access their playworker if they are needed. Play workers will work to create a stimulating outdoor environment providing social, active and creative play whilst also being an ambassador for play.

8. The adult's role in play

The school will help children maximise the benefits they can gain from play by the provision of trained staff who are informed by and work in accordance with the Playwork Principles. Staff will use and refer to these principles when appropriate interventions are needed, and ultimately will strive for facilitating an environment that nurtures children's self-directed play.

The playworker's core function is to create an environment that will stimulate children's play and maximise their opportunities for a wide range of play experiences. A skilled and experienced playworker can enrich the child's play experience both in terms of the design and resources of the physical environment and in terms of the attitudes and culture fostered within the play setting. Playworkers are a channel of access to new materials and tools, and they can act as a stimulus to children to explore and learn. They are also available to participate in the play if invited.

During play time at St Modwen's the playworkers main and most important role will be to range the area of the site given as their responsibility. Playworkers will prepare the range so that there is a play offer for all children. Playworkers will be available to help the children with their play if the child wishes and will be vigilant in making sure they are available and visible to the children in their range.

Play work Principles. Appendix. 3

9. Equality and diversity

Through providing a rich play offer meeting every child's needs we will ensure all children, regardless of age, gender, race, disability or other special needs, can develop and thrive, build strong relationships and enjoy school.

At St Modwen's it is vital that all children receive the same opportunities, OPAL allows a play offer for all children regardless of all needs, this means that with the help of others everyone at St Modwen's will take part in child led intrinsically motivated play.

10. Environment

We believe that a rich play setting should ensure that all children have access to stimulating environments that are free from unacceptable or unnecessary risks and thereby offer children the opportunity to explore for themselves through their freely chosen play.

We will strive to continually improve the quality and diversity of our school's grounds to enhance play. We will use the document 'Best Play' to guide us on what a quality play environment should contain. www.freeplaynetwork.org.uk/pubs/bestplay.pdf

At St Modwen's Safeguarding is the number one priority. Providing a rich play setting supports the safeguarding of children in education. A rich play setting and play offer reduces the risk of bullying and mental health issues in children leading to happy and mentally healthier young people; therefore, preparing them to reach their God given potential as socially responsible citizens. The reduction in mental health issues and general improvement in social and emotional capacity of children leads to young people being much more able to self-regulate emotions; consequently, this leads to a reduction in the amount of behaviour issues reported to playworkers during playtime as children have the capacity to deal with and regulate situations themselves. The risk of a site security breach is minimised by OPAL as playworkers have ranges on site and it is essential that playworkers are continually moving around in their range; meaning the whole site is monitored during play time. A rich play offer for children allows for self confidence and confidence regarding team work too. It is key that we make outdoor play an essential for the next generation of young people, it provides a love and appreciation for nature and the world, at St Modwen's this is important to us. We are an eco-school and are introducing forest school to help our children appreciate and understand the world we live in more.

Appendix.1

about complicated methods of calculating risks or benefits. In essence, play is a safe and beneficial activity. Sensible adult judgements are all that is generally required to derive the best benefits to children whilst ensuring that they are not exposed to unnecessary risk. In making these judgements, industry standards such as EN 1176 offer bench marks that can help.

8. Striking the right balance does mean:

- Weighing up risks and benefits when designing and providing play opportunities and activities
- Focussing on and controlling the most serious risks, and those that are not beneficial to the play activity or foreseeable by the user
- Recognising that the introduction of risk might form part of play opportunities and activity
- Understanding that the purpose of risk control is not the elimination of all risk, and so accepting that the possibility of even serious or life-threatening injuries cannot be eliminated, though it should be managed
- Ensuring that the benefits of play are experienced to the full

9. Striking the right balance does not mean:

- All risks must be eliminated or continually reduced
- Every aspect of play provision must be set out in copious paperwork as part of a misguided security blanket
- Detailed assessments aimed at high-risk play activities are used for low-risk activities
- Ignoring risks that are not beneficial or integral to the play activity, such as those introduced through poor maintenance of equipment
- Mistakes and accidents will not happen

What parents and society should expect from play providers

Key message: 'Those providing play opportunities should focus on controlling the real risks, while securing or increasing the benefits – not on the paperwork'.

10. Play providers² should use their own judgement and expertise as well as, where appropriate, the judgement of others, to ensure that the assessments and controls proposed are proportionate to the risks involved.

11. They should communicate what these controls are, why they are necessary and so ensure everyone focuses on the important risks.

12. It is important that providers' arrangements ensure that:

- The beneficial aspects of play - and the exposure of children to a level of risk and challenge - are not unnecessarily reduced
- Assessment and judgement focuses on the real risks, not the trivial and fanciful
- Controls are proportionate and so reflect the level of risk

² Play providers include those managing or providing play facilities or activities in parks, green spaces, adventure playgrounds, holiday playschemes, schools, youth clubs, family entertainment centres and childcare provision.

13. To help with controlling risks sensibly and proportionately, the play sector has produced the publication Managing Risk in Play Provision: Implementation Guide which provides guidance on managing the risks in play. The approach in this guidance is that risks and benefits are considered alongside each other in a risk-benefit assessment. This includes an assessment of the risks which, while taking into account the benefits of the activity, ensures that any precautions are practicable and proportionate and reflect the level of risk. HSE supports this guidance, as a sensible approach to risk management.

If things go wrong

Key message: 'Accidents and mistakes happen during play – but fear of litigation and prosecution has been blown out of proportion.'

14. Play providers are expected to deal with risk responsibly, sensibly and proportionately. In practice, serious accidents of any kind are very unlikely. On the rare occasions when things go wrong, it is important to know how to respond to the incident properly and to conduct a balanced, transparent review.

15. In the case of the most serious failures of duty, prosecution rightly remains a possibility, and cannot be entirely ruled out. However, this possibility does not mean that play providers should eliminate even the most trivial of risks. Provided sensible and proportionate steps have been taken, it is highly unlikely there would be any breach of health and safety law involved, or that it would be in the public interest to bring a prosecution.

September 2012

Appendix.2

UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, which includes the right to play, recreation and leisure (Article 31) and the right of children to be listened to on matters important to them (Article 12).

<https://www.cypcs.org.uk/rights/uncrc/full-uncrc/#31>

Article 31

1. States Parties recognize the right of the child to rest and leisure, to engage in play and recreational activities appropriate to the age of the child and to participate freely in cultural life and the arts.
2. States Parties shall respect and promote the right of the child to participate fully in cultural and artistic life and shall encourage the provision of appropriate and equal opportunities for cultural, artistic, recreational and leisure activity.

Article 12

1. States Parties shall assure to the child who is capable of forming his or her own views the right to express those views freely in all matters affecting the child, the views of the child being given due weight in accordance with the age and maturity of the child.
2. For this purpose, the child shall in particular be provided the opportunity to be heard in any judicial and administrative proceedings affecting the child, either directly, or through a representative or an appropriate body, in a manner consistent with the procedural rules of national law.

Appendix.3

file:///L:/2022-23%20Planning/OPAL/ OPAL%20ePack%2022-23/ Pack%205%20-%20Playwork%20and%20supervision/Doc%205.1%20GUIDANCE%20Playwork%20essentials%2022-23.pdf

PLAY TYPES

Symbolic Play

Locomotor Play

Recapitulative Play

Creative Play

Exploratory Play

Communication Play

Role Play

Fantasy Play

Socio-dramatic Play

Object Play

Mastery Play

Deep Play

Roush and Tumble Play

Dramatic Play

Social Play

Imaginative Play

PLAY SCOTLAND
www.playscotland.org

A Playworker's Taxonomy of Play Types by Bob Hughes

emeroleary.com